Nestled in St. John's, on the eastern edge of North America, Newfoundland Chocolate Company is a family-owned company making artisan chocolate the old fashioned way. They are celebrating 15 years from their humble beginnings in their home to our original headquarters on Duckworth Street and cafe and factory on Torbay Road.

We are a small craft brewery, taproom and beer garden located in the beautiful coastal town of Port Rexton on the Bonavista Peninsula. We're just minutes from the trailhead to the famous Skerwink Trail and very close to many other small businesses and area attractions.
